Snow, Cold Continue in Middle West

Temperatures Skid Throughout East Tornado Clouds Rife

United Press International
Winter weather lingered in the Midwest Saturday, dropping temperatures below freezing from the Rockies to the Great Lakes and turning April showers into out-of-season snowfalls.

Four inches of snow were reported at Redwood Falls, Minn., where several tornado clouds were spotted late Friday. Up to an inch of snow fell as far south as Dalt, Tex., and in part of Wyoming, Colorado and the Northern Plains.

THE CHICAGO Cubs and the Los Angeles Dodgers sat out their National League season opener in Chicago Friday when a light snow cancelled the game.

Temperatures skidded below freezing across the Northern Plains and in the Central Rockies and mid-Mississippi Valley. Laramie, Wyo., reported a low of 12 degrees above zero late Friday night.

A LIGHT RAIN dampened most of the East and mixed with snow in lower Michigan, but fair weather shone west of the Rockies with the only precipitation reported along the Washington and northern California coasts.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast snow flurries Saturday for the Colorado and Wyoming mountains and scattered showers in the Mississippi Valley and most of the East. Fair weather will warm the area west of the Rockies.

Three Norwalk juveniles will be released to their parents this weekend after being arrested by police Friday night on charges of breaking into two soft drink machines at Bert's Richmond Station.

The three youths were arrested on a tip from four Palm Springs youths who were passing the station as the crime was taking place.

groups of children and adults.

Later, Miss Elliott attended college in the Midwest and spent four additional years working in the field of international studies and teaching.

"My recent California years have been spent mostly in Idyllwild, teaching, house parenting, counselling and putting up deer signs with the Isaac Walton League," she remarked.

SINCE HER childhood, Miss Elliott has undertaken an intensive study of the mountain, probing facts on its resources and development; facts which she has coupled with her kindred spirit for the mountain to expand her already deep-seated affection for its timbered steep slopes and hidden snow valleys with new understanding.

Her carefully coordinated series on San Jacinto will continue to appear in the pages of The Desert Sun until summer. They will resume again in the fall.

GOP ELECTS MORTON NEW CHAIRMAN; CHICAGO NAMED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Republican National Committee today elected Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky as its chairman and voted to hold the 1960 GOP convention in Chicago the week of July 25.

Morton, President Eisenhower's nominee to succeed retiring Chairman Meade A. Acheson, was elected without contest.

HIS FORMAL selection came after the committee adopted a recommendation by its site committee to hold next year's party convention in the huge Livestock Amphitheater in the windy city.

In an acceptance speech, Morton said he considered himself a "middle of the roader." He said his biggest task will be to build the party organization to achieve victory in 1960.

HE TOLD THE committee that he has supported President Eisenhower's programs as consistently as any Republican in Congress.

"When the fight comes on the battle of the budget, I'm in his corner four-square and he knows that," Morton said.

As for 1960, Morton said it is too early to say who will be the GOP's presidential nominee, but its standard-bearer will be a proven winner.

BORROWING THE blue grass racing language of his native Kentucky, the senator said: "We're going to have a proven stake winner and no selling platters in our barn."

DEAD WERE STEPHEN and

Sharon, 13-year old twins, and their sister Susan, 14. The mother was taken to the hospital in critical condition.

Police said there was no indication of trouble in the quiet Virginia home about 12 miles south of Washington, D.C., when Matthews left the breakfast table, ran to the basement and picked up a baseball bat.

THEY SAID HE returned and started slugging the children, then turned on his wife, Mrs. Matthews ran to a neighbors house for help.

INDICATIONS IN Shillong were that the Lama will rest for two days in Bomdila and then continue his journey by jeep.

Dalai Lama Escape Trip Nearing End

China Nationalist Troops Reported With Tibet Tribes

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The Communists have sealed the escape corridor, southeast of Lhasa, through which the Dalai Lama and 79 other refugees escaped from Tibet into India, it was reported today.

Officials in Shillong, on India's northeast frontier, said that no refugees have crossed the border since March 31, a week after the fleeing god-king got through to safety.

THE COMMUNIST radio reported that the government the Reds are setting up in Tibet will include a "public security" department—presumably some sort of secret police agency.

The Dalai Lama, meanwhile, was continuing his grueling journey over the rugged terrain of northeastern India. An official spokesman in Shillong said the Tibetan leader is expected to reach Bomdila Sunday.

AFTER A WEARY 14-mile double march Friday, the Lama will spend tonight in Rahang, a village eight miles from Bomdila, the spokesman said. When he arrives in Bomdila about noon Sunday, he will be greeted by P. N. Menon, Premier Jawaharlal Nehru's special envoy.

Informed sources here said the Dalai Lama has advised Nehru that he would like to talk with him at the earliest possible opportunity. A place for the meeting probably will be one of the first matters he takes up with Menon when they meet Sunday.

THE INFORMED sources also said that the god-king has assured Menon already—presumably by radio—that he would not like to do anything which would affect India's relations with any other country.

This was interpreted as a pledge that he will refrain from denunciations of the Communists which might worsen relations between Red China and India.

INDICATIONS IN Shillong were that the Lama will rest for two days in Bomdila and then continue his journey by jeep.

A NEW TOY FOR PALM SPRINGS children will be this jet Navy fighter, obtained from Navy surplus by the Palm Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce. It will be fixed up for them and presented to the city. The plane will be erected at Tamarisk Park along with a 'flight tower' for Palm Springs youngsters to play on and in. The plane, shipped here by railroad, was brought in-

CONCRETE BATCHING PLANT HEARING SET FOR TUESDAY

Public hearing on a proposed resort area concrete batching plant heads a list of 11 desert items scheduled for County Planning Commission action Tuesday.

Hearing is scheduled for 2 p.m. on a proposed Ready-Mix Concrete batch plant in a W-2 zone located about 1,020 feet south of Ramon Road and 366 feet northwest of its Date Palm Drive intersection.

OTHER MATTERS scheduled for consideration at the commission meeting in Riverside are:

Hearing on application of Palm Springs Estates Co. to set up a real estate tract office on property located at the northwest corner of Rancho Palmaras Drive and Palm Shadow Drive.

Tentative maps on Jefferson Street Estates, on the east side of Jefferson street, between 39th and 38th Avenues; San Geronimo Pass Unit 8, between Cottonwood Road and Desert View Avenue, West Palm Springs Village area.

TENTATIVE MAPS on Sixth Avenue River Park Subdivision, located on the Colorado River south of Sixth Avenue; La Quinta Golf Club Unit 1, southeast of the proposed relocation of Avenida Serra, about one-quarter mile north of Avenue 51.

New Feature

Series on San Jacinto Mountain To Start in The Desert Sun Tuesday

Another exclusive feature makes its debut in The Desert Sun Tuesday when Miss Anna Mary Elliott launches her dramatic new series on the story of the "wet mountain"—Isabellus Mt. San Jacinto.

Starting with the evolution of San Jacinto, this new, copyrighted, weekly series of feature articles will graphically chronicle the multitudinous facets that comprise the personality and life of this mammoth, granite backdrop for the desert area.

IN ADDITION to her own, personalized stories, Miss Elliott will coordinate the efforts of noted experts who will contribute new and relatively little-known information on the scientific aspects of the mountain.

But the story of San Jacinto will tell of far more than its values to science or its vast resources of watershed and timber lands. Through the eyes of Miss Elliott who has traveled the mountain's trails since early childhood, Desert Sun readers will glimpse qualities of San Jacinto seldom captured by a tourist's camera or noted in a forestry guide.

THEY'LL FOLLOW the paths the deer have made, and find the "secret places" of life and beauty which are the natural treasure troves of mountain slopes and forests.

They'll also discover how the Indians used the mountain to feed their tribes and provide legends for their tribal lore; they'll learn of the growth of its trees; the development of its soils and meadows; and they'll feel its winds and sample all its wealth and beauty.

IT'S THE STORY of a mountain, but it's a personal story too, because Miss Elliott's life is closely linked with the "splendor of San Jacinto."

Two Hearings Head Area Items for Supervisors

Two public hearings head a list of 16 desert area items posted for the regular Monday meeting of the Riverside County Board of Supervisors.

Scheduled for 1:30 p.m. hearing at the supervisors' session in Riverside are hearings on:

Dr. C. A. Reagan's appeal on requirements stipulated for approval of tentative plans on his Gai Char Res Desert Estates Unit 2; and proposals to change zones of lands in the Whitewater area to W-1.

OTHER ITEMS listed on the agenda include:

Planning Commission recommendations to grant a permit to M. Gristen for a Garnet wrecking yard; to adopt resolutions on the discharge of sewage into Salton Sea, and improvement of access road in Palm Desert on a cooperative basis.

MRS. LAURITZ HANSEN

Services Set Tuesday for Mrs. Hansen

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. Agnete Hansen, 74, who died early Friday morning of a cerebral hemorrhage.

A native of Denmark, Mrs. Hansen came to the United States at the age of 24 and married Lauritz Hansen in ceremonies performed by Al Smith in New York. The couple would have celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Nov. 6.

AFTER LIVING IN New York for two years the couple moved to San Francisco and then came to Palm Springs in 1924.

Mrs. Hansen became interested in civic and charitable organizations, including the P-T-A, Welfare and Friendly Aid, Red Cross, Blood Bank, Grey Lady, Palm Springs Community Church, and Palm Springs Women's Club. She was building committee chairman of the new nurses quarters of the Desert Hospital, Hospital Auxiliary project.

SHE IS SURVIVED by her husband, Lauritz, a son, Richard Hansen of Pasadena, a daughter, Mrs. Everett Leek of Illinois, and four grandchildren.

Services will be held at 3:30 at the Community Church, with Dr. James Blackstone and Rev. Bertram B. Weatherall officiating.

Interment will be in Welwood Murray Memorial Park, with Wiefels and Son Mortuary in charge.

Mary Kaye Trio Scores Hit Again

There's something about the Mary Kaye Trio that defies description.

They're three very versatile singers, three excellent musicians, three delightful personalities, three vital entertainers — but that's not all.

And therein lies the trouble.

How do you define a feeling?

THE THREESOME, under observation by this reviewer for at least half a decade now, relaxed onstage at the Chi Chi's Starlite Room this week and dealt their fans — of which there are multitudinous numbers — a solid segment of the treatment.

What that includes is great songs, skillfully tailored to the trio's format and with much humor thrown in.

There is the usual dialogue between the trio members — and now between the three-man rhythm unit that backs them up — with some new and breathtakingly hilarious material added.

THE TRIO PLAYED things like "Just One Of Those Things" and "In the Still Of the Night" before lapsing into comedy.

"I want to tell you people who are new in town," Frank Ross declared, "that you're here just a little before the season."

Then Norman Kaye joined Frank in a lament for Mary's impending trip to the maternity ward with a chunk of original material sung to the tune of "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby" but retitled — for the occasion — "Every Year She's Got to Have New Baby" which is about as witty, as cute a piece of tune as has been turned out in this zany business in recent years.

"We're in Las Vegas six months a year," Frankie said, quizzically. "And, frankly, if you don't gamble, what is there?"

JUST BEFORE NORM and Mary teamed up in a beautiful version of the "Hawaiian Wedding Song," Frank explained that the Dole twins were both excited about Hawaii's statehood.

"Fine," yelled out drummer Frank Hudec from the stand, "now let's all get together and make Israel No. 51."

Norm soloed on "Do It Again" and "Begin the Beguine" with drastically different results. Seeing the group work with him on the latter for the umpteenth time was still like seeing it again for the first time. And on "Do It," Norm did it grandly. Back in 1956 (in a Pasadena paper) this reviewer made the remark that Norm could make it — handily — as a single. It still applies, but Norm is having too much of a good time in the trio to bolt this comfortable environment.

A TUNE FROM the trio's new Warner Brothers album — "Toreador" — drew the maximum from the augmenting threesome behind them. Pianist Ray Browne showed well, drummer Hudec pushed a driving tempo and Gus Mancuso swapped his bass fiddle for the trombone and performed some nifty slidework.

Two encores for Chi Chi fans marked the midnight show, and the trio conceivably have held the mob indoors until 6 a.m. had they wished to respond to the continued applause.

One encore was a solo of "How Did He Look" by Mary — with offmike comments by Frank that broke her, the band and the audience up simultaneously — and another version of "I Can't Give You Anything But Love" which had Norman wigged like Keely Smith and Frank just wigged — like Prima.

THE TRIO HAD to be fantastic in their show. They followed a young juggler named Francis Brunn who is — without any question of doubt — the most magnetic performer to hit the Chi Chi in months. Some of the things he does have to be seen to be believed.

It was reported later that he

Brunn works faster than any performer I've seen in this town this season.

Music Society to Present Verdi's 'Requiem' Sunday

When Giuseppe Verdi asked La Scala Opera mezzo-soprano Maria Waldmann to sing his "Requiem" in 1874 at Milan, he told her that she "would gain neither reputation nor money by it... yet it is something which will make history—not because of the merit of the music, of course, but because of the man to whom it is dedicated."

The musical masterpiece stands today, however, not as a testimony to Alessandro Manzoni, the 19th century author in whose memory Verdi composed it, but as the most magnificent work the Italian master composed.

FOR THAT FIRST performance of the Requiem—which Verdi conducted himself—the operatic giant gathered about him a chorus of 120 singers, an orchestra of more than 100 and with mezzo Waldmann and soprano Teresa Stolz and other a Scala luminaries as soloists.

At 8:15 p. m., Sunday, in the Palm Springs High School Auditorium, the chorus of the Music

OPERA TENOR Robert Thomas today was announced as tenor for the Music Society of Palm Springs presentation of Verdi's "Requiem," to be given at 8:15 p. m., Sunday, in Palm Springs High School Auditorium. Thomas replaces Richard Robinson in the weighty choral effort.

INCLUDED IN THE list of solo performers are Phylla Wood Bedford, soprano, who has sung with Fred Waring and in oratorio performances; Reba Mason, mezzo soprano, who has worked with Roger Wagner Chorale and who is currently studying with Larra Browning; Robert Thomas, tenor, who has sung with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, the Pasadena Symphony Orchestra and the San Francisco Debut Opera Auditions, and William Dugereaux, bass, who has been a force with the St. Louis Civic and Municipal Opera groups and the Kansas City Lyric Theater.

Verdi linked his operatic style with a religious impact in such a way as to produce a work that George R. Marek characterized as "loved by both the faithful and the agnostic."

IN ITS FIRST performance, it was greeted with hushed silence, partly because of the occasion (a commemoration of the death of Manzoni) and partly because the public was not ready for so vigorous a music in a requiem.

In ensuing performances at La Scala, emotionally-moved Italian audiences applauded so vociferously that first the Offertorium and then the Sanctus had to be encored. Applause actually broke out during the magnificent Agnus Dei during the first La Scala presentation and Verdi was given a crown of silver at the end of that first performance.

MUSICALLY, THE composition has its center of perception in Dies Irae, a musical expression so terrible in its meaning that it would only concern heaven or hell. The longest single movement in the work, it is also the dramatic foundation of the entire Requiem.

Some idea of the ponderous aspect of this work might be gained in repeating the declaration made by Dimitri Mitropoulos in 1956. Asked if he was content with the program he had played the year before and the program he was playing that year, he said: "Any year is incomplete if I cannot play the Requiem."

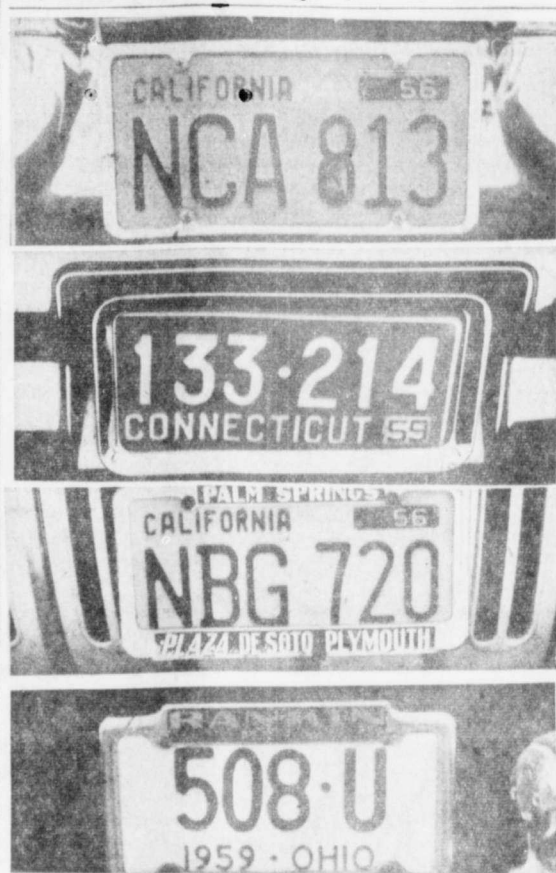

"The Verdi Requiem?" questioned the radio announcer. "What other?" countered Mitropoulos.

Country Club Drive Naming Is Scheduled

A new name for Avenue 40 between Washington Street and Rio Del Sol in the Indian Wells-Palm Desert area west of Indio, was requested in several letters received this week by the Board of Supervisors and sent to the planning commission with instructions to start proceedings to grant the request.

Country Club Drive was chosen by property owners along the six mile stretch of Avenue 40 as a more appropriate designation since it connects Thunderbird Country Club on the west and the Bermuda Dunes and Dunes Country Clubs on the east, and continuation of the street westerly to Highway 111 is already called Country Club Drive.

THESPIANS SET PLAY FOR MAY 8-9

The Thespians, Coachella Valley Union High School student theatrical group, are today rehearsing for their production of the stage hit "Angel Street."

Director Bill Webers said the three-act suspense thriller is scheduled for presentation at the high school auditorium May 8 and 9.

WRITTEN BY Patrick Hamilton, "Angel Street" enjoyed a lengthy run on the New York stage before it was transported to the screen as Hollywood's "Gaslight," starring Ingrid Bergman and Charles Boyer.

Cast in leading role for "Angel Street" are student thespian Darlene Gaston, Gary Keefe and Dale Cox.

MISS GASTON IS cast as Mrs. Manningham, the unsuspecting target of her husband's murderous, cunningly calculated plan to drive her insane.

Dale Cox plays the insidious Mr. Manningham and Keefe is cast in the role of Detective Rough, the sleuth who shatters Manningham's nefarious scheme.

Others in the cast are Diane Hinkle and Elsie Shockley.

17 Area Tracts Sold in Auction

RIVERSIDE — Seventeen of 21 tracts located on the Torres-Martinez reservation in Coachella Valley were sold in a March 24 auction of Indian land, according to the Riverside Area field office of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Prices on the land ranged from $162.50 to $505 per acre.

Orlando Garcia, field representative for the Bureau's office, said that four Coachella Valley tracts and three San Diego County tracts were not sold because bids were unsatisfactory.

Supervisors File Sales Tax Collection Report

A report by Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen on figures released by the State Board of Equalization relative to sales tax collections and showing the comparison of distributions to the county's 13 cities in the first quarter of 1958 and 1959 (for the last three months in 1957 and 1958) was tabled by the Board of Supervisors this week.

The figures showed increases over the previous year for all but two cities, Elsinore and Indio. The Elsinore decrease was 3.2 per cent and that for Indio was 1.3 per cent.

PALM SPRINGS showed a gain of 14.6 per cent, Corona, 9.4 per cent, Coachella 19.2 per cent, Hemet 6.7 per cent, San Jacinto 17.4 per cent, and Blythe 8.5 per cent. Gain for distribution to the county was 6.4 per cent.

Relegated to the board table

Along with Andersen's report were resolutions adopted by the cities of Coachella, Indio, Hemet, Riverside and Beaumont endorsing the League of Cities resolution to end the Bradley - Burns county-cities sales tax agreement June 30 unless the contribution by cities effective July 1 is lowered from the present 10 per cent allocation to 5 per cent, with Palm Springs continuing its present 5 per cent contribution.

THE SUPERVISORS have expressed themselves individually as adamant to lowering of the 10 per cent allocation to the county.

Should the program be discontinued, there will be no local sales tax in the unincorporated areas, and the difference in revenue will obviously have to be charged to property owners.

Secretary Dulles' Place in History

PHILADELPHIA — Secretary John Foster Dulles changed the whole pattern of U. S. foreign relations through . . . "personal diplomacy." He traveled some 600,000 miles in 50 countries in the six odd years he has been in office. In our opinion he accomplished more than any two secretaries in our time. No other Secretary of State to our knowledge worked as hard . . . 14 to 20 hours a day . . . because he loved his job as only a man must to push himself at such a pace.

Secretary Dulles was not just the representative of the United States abroad . . . he was a good deal more than that. He was the spokesman, fighter and defender of the entire free world against the tide of Communism. He spoke not just for America and a few Western allies, but for the whole anti-Communist world. He worked almost around the clock, under the pressure of hard travel, weather, ill health . . . and even insults of uninformed unimaginative political opponents.

HE SELDOM STOOPED from his dedicated goal of U. S. security to strike back through the back door of politics. He defended his stand without offending his opponents. Today, because of his tragic illness, he is being heralded as indispensable, even by those who have tried to cut him to pieces in the arena of political torture.

This reporter has been fortunate to rub shoulders with him while covering world-conferences abroad. At the Geneva Summit in 1955, just to cite one example, he worked long hours while most delegates worked the cocktail and buffet, on the double task of seeking agreement among our Allies, as well as the Russians. Khrushchev was heard asking, after one of the long and arduous sessions, "whether Dulles has as hard a time selling the Russians as he did his Allies."

MORE OFTEN THAN not our Allies have opposed Secretary Dulles and there were ominous areas of disagreement, as was the case after the attack on the Suez Canal by the British and French and the invasion of Gaza by Israel. But he stuck to the principle that guided his entire diplomatic career, that the real goal of diplomacy is to avoid war, not sanction it. In spite of many disagreements, our Allies and the entire free world respect him.

AS A MATTER of fact, it has been our observation that he gained more respect in disagreement than he could ever gain in accord. For honest disagreement implies courage to differ, especially when the difference is drawn from principle rather than selfish national gain.

He has been often criticized for "defensive, rather than offensive" foreign policy, to which one day he replied in our presence, "I would change to a more daring policy if I were the only one to dare and die in battle." When his political opponents blamed him for not being able to organize an overall strategy to take the initiative from Russia . . . he replied, "The initiative will usually remain with the dictator who has no one to account to for his life."

NO OTHER SECRETARY of State in our time has had to cope with such a four-pronged challenge from Communism as Mr. Dulles. Since he took office in 1953, he was forced to fight Russia's four-pronged drive in the scientific, military, economic and political fronts, all at one time.

With the first Eisenhower administration the nation was all out for economy . . . and the Soviet four-pronged challenge appeared remote and too costly to match. He was greatly hampered by budgetary cuts, while at the same time Communism was making inroads in the Middle-East, Asia and the Far East, with the constant threat of war through political subversion.

EVER SINCE his appointment, Mr. Dulles has conducted what has been referred to critically as a "defense policy" . . . but just look at the defense, from Formosa to Hungary, via Egypt, Africa, Indo-China, Indonesia, Malaya, Algeria, Cyprus, Iraq, Iran, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and the transition in France.

By 1954 Secretary Dulles organized SEATO to block the spread of Communism running rampant from Red China into Indo-China. He got Pakistan to join SEATO, as well as the Baghdad Pact. In all probability this consolidation of Pacific Powers saved Southeast Asia after the defeat of the French in Indo-China. By 1955 Secretary Dulles got Congress to approve the defense of Formosa. He saved Formosa and with it the whole Pacific perimeter.

BY 1957 HE convinced Congress to extend our military protection to the Middle-East against international Communism. He tied the U. S. to the Baghdad Pact, whose full members—Britain, Pakistan, Turkey, Iran—are now holding the line against Communist-infested Iraq. Secretary Dulles' "personal diplomacy" did alert our Allies around the entire front of Communism, and while it has been impossible to plug all the holes, enough have been plugged to give us time for more solid consolidation.

Unfortunately, and in all probability, Secretary Dulles will be forced to retire very shortly. It is even optimistic to suggest survival of his dreaded affliction. His loss at this crucial juncture of the coming Summit Conference on Berlin is immeasurable, for he has become truly the indispensable man. Even if he survives, he could not add very much more to his already enviable and dedicated record. Few men in American history have accomplished more in foreign affairs. John Morley.

Humpty Dumpty's Running Out of Wall

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

To be kind to all
I daily try,
But I just can't love
A dratted fly.

Employment of the word "dratted" shows my remarkable restraint.

AS A SUGGESTED thought for more agile thinkers during the more quiet summer months, why not a little research work on how to eliminate those nasty little so-and-sos that promenade across your brow or stamp on your elbow just as you have the telephone receiver in one hand and are writing with the other?

And disappear entirely when you are at liberty or settle on the edge of a full ashtray where you dare not swat. Then when they settle in an open spot, a perfect target, you discover that someone has borrowed your swatter.

SOME YEARS AGO a project was inaugurated here to eradicate the fly. But the flies won.

This time of the year there are no lawns being planted with the customary inducements to make them grow, luring the pests. So why

The dictionary calls them a dipterous insect of the Muscidae family of which the Musca Domestica, or house fly, is the most familiar. I'll say they are familiar.

Anyway, that dictionary terminology provides a nice clean thing to call them. Especially in the presence of women and children.

DOES IT IRK you, too, when they call a party and his secretary asks:

"Who is this calling?"
I know a many who got even. He called a friend, a respected gentleman and business man here and when the girl on the switchboard coldly asked: "Who is this calling?" he lost control. "This is Morrie, the book-maker. Tell him that if he doesn't pay me that $75 he owes me for last month's bum bets, I'll take it out of his hide."

JAY BUDSEY, entrepreneur of the refreshment division of the Town and Country restaurant in The Center, became curious when a small boy made several trips back and forth through the place.

When he started to question the youngster, the kid ran. So Budsey went to the head of the service stairs to investigate. Saw several older boys disappearing with a sack in their hands.

Seems the little youngster who kept walking through the room was a look-out for the older boys who were raiding the cases of empty returnable bottles.

PEOPLE ARE GETTING curious about Daylight Time and because I gripe about it so much, seem to think I'm an authority on the subject.

Because of the calls asking when it goes into effect and how long—

You set your watches and clocks ahead one hour two weeks from tonight and you'll be on P.D.T.

And you'll be on it until the last Sunday in September unless a vote approves the new plan to extend sun time through October.

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

The weather has been wonderful. The more wonderful the weather, the more invitations to lunch. Have you noticed that? On bad days, hardly anybody calls up and says: "How about lunch?"

But let the sun come out and the day get mellow. EVERYBODY wants to get into a nice dark room and munch martinis.

(FOR MORE ON this subject read "The Lives of Slocum and Whist." These brilliant sociologists studied the business luncheon at great cost to themselves, Slocum, the more unstable one, became a gas hound at 22. Whist is now working, unsteadily, reading gas meters.)

I am having lunch this day with my 3-year-old son and heir. We are on the right track. On nice days we eat OUTDOORS.

I call him up on the play telephone. "Pardon me, Sir. Would you care to have lunch and talk over some important business?"

WE AGREE to meet in one minute in the patio.

The menu today is peanut butter sandwiches. He wanted to add an Easter egg—heavenly days, I thought I counted them all, but we found a purple one behind the bookcase. It is pretty dusty.

We have agreed to use it for table decorations.

Before lunch we discovered a slug in the garden. He is a kind of ghastly green. We poured salt on him and he died like a dog.

These demonstrations are not the greatest thing for my appetite. But the child does not mind. He likes to slaughter a few snails or slugs before lunch.

"TALK BUSINESS, Daddy." Very well. This is a business lunch and you cannot start too early.

"My proposition, sir, is a proposition on toys. We are able to offer you a bag of six assorted colors of plastic autos for 59 cents. We will defer the payment of this amount for about 100 years. Okay?"

It is agreed that I may deliver this shipment. It should come right after the nap. A very good business session. I should say, I have made a sale. He has made a good buy.

What did you do for lunch I suppose you went in some dark, dismal place and got nowhere.

THE FATHER-AND-SON relationship is not easy. You have to be on your toes.

"Relationship between parent and child should be one of mutual trust."

That advice appears in a book on our shelves. It is for parents—the child cannot read, naturally, and wouldn't trust you if he could.

THE REASON children do not trust you is because your stories are so unbelievable. For a week while the Easter baskets emptied, I swore that I could not bear chocolate Easter eggs.

"Daddy doesn't eat chocolate Easter eggs," was the cry around the scatter. "Rabbits! Rabbits! Don't eat chocolate Easter eggs!"

THIS WAS SUPPOSED to toast the offspring onto more acceptable food. If your Daddy hates chocolate Easter eggs and eats spinach; if the bunny rabbit hates chocolate Easter eggs and eats carrots—well, you get the idea.

This does not impress this child at all. He LIKES chocolate Easter eggs. And in his book, Daddy and the bunny rabbit lose plenty face. If they want to eat carrots and spinach, they can have HIS Carrots and spinach.

He will take the chocolate eggs.

ANYWAY, HE CAUGHT me nibbling a chocolate egg. I immediately put on a terrific act. Making a terrible face and clutching my chest.

"Oh, oh. How awful! I HATE these nasty old chocolate eggs." He gave me a doubtful look and said: "Give me a taste."

Secretly, if that child really switched off chocolate eggs to carrots, I would probably be pretty moody about it. He may be missing some vitamins. But he was not behind the door when the brains were passed out.

EARL WILSON:

There He Goes

New York — "I can't sing but I love to," Tab Hunter said. He clumsily spooned his soup with his left hand because his right was in a sling. But when he spoke, the young TV, movie and recording star flashed me a look of absolute honesty. He can't sing — so he's a top record-seller. And he'll sing a duet with Jane Powell when she recreates the Judy Garland classic, "Meet Me in St. Louis," in a CBS two-hour TV spec April 26.

"You admit you can't sing?" I asked him.

"I can't," he nodded vigorously. "But when you stand in a recording booth and the orchestra starts, the music pulls something out of you. If it's a tender ballad, I close my eyes and try . . ."

"I can't describe it, because musically I'm so damned square!" Tab returned comfortably to his soup.

And there you have a picture of a brilliant TV and movie success, darling of the teen-agers, well-liked by adults, who is, as they say nowadays, "basically insecure." He used the expression himself, having dinner at the Gotham, nursing the right arm that he dislocated at his home in Hollywood when he flung some garden hose aside as he rushed to answer a phone. He was describing how, at times, he became very, very impatient with the autograph fans.

"You're insecure enough," he said, "and then they tell you how they feel about you if you hesitate about signing."

"I hate the type of person who runs up and grabs your arm and swings you around and says SIGN THIS!"

"One day I was driving along in Hollywood late for an appointment when a girl pulled alongside me. She was cute, tall, and had about four girl friends. She leaned out of her car and said, 'Sign this.' I said I didn't have time to stop. She said, 'You owe it to us to sign, because if it weren't for us, you wouldn't be working."

"I SAID ———. I don't owe you anything!" and drove away."

Tab, a young horseman who has three beauties which he shows at the fairs and other top events, finds that generally when he's worried about his horse and winning enough to get back the $350 entrance fee, some autograph bug pounces on him.

"At one show," he remembered, "my mother was along, and when some fan came up just at the wrong time, Mama said, 'Go on, sign it!'"

"I was impatient and I said, 'Mom, why don't you sign it?'"

"Her answer was: 'You have some respect for your mother.'"

Tab seems unimpressed by himself. Thrust into top movie roles because of his acting success on TV, he had a disappointment or two. In "Damn Yankees," he worked furiously perfecting a dance number with Gwen Verdon who coached him ever so patiently and made him very proud.

"It was my big moment — and they cut most of it out," he confessed.

He and George Abbott just didn't hit it off. And Abbott directed the movie.

"But how can you argue with success?" reasoned Tab. "Look at all the hits he's had!"

Tab appears not to be crazed with the enticements of wine, women and song, as some young stars are. When he performed with Rita Hayworth in the "They Came to Cordura" movie, he stayed a few nights in a hotel in Las Vegas.

"They didn't have any television in the rooms," he complained. "They had everything channeled so you would go out to the casinos."

"But if you go out there and throw away $10 every night, it soon mounts up!"

Just at this point in our conversation a waiter came over apologetically as we sat at the Gotham and handed him a menu.

MIKE CONNOLLY:

Danny Kaye's Set for TV

HOLLYWOOD — Danny Kaye has finally been convinced he needs TV to bolster his career. Long a holdout, a side from a very rare, show, Danny has always felt that customers won't pay to see his movies or concerts if they can see him for nothing on TV. But his agent, Abe Lastfogel, is now out lining up specs for him for next season—a la Bing Crosby, Mary Martin, Fred Astaire, Dean Martin, Frank Sinatra and the other top one-shot big shots.

How did Abe convince his star? By reaching all the way back to the old radio days—by pulling out all the records at Paramount to prove to Danny that when the late Cecil B. DeMille was the host of Lux Radio Theatre his pictures were worth at least $1,000,000 per year at the nation's boxoffices than when he wasn't hosting it!

FESS PARKER, his Davy Crockett cap in mothballs, is hitting the road late this month on a long tour that will take him to New York, Chicago and other big eastern cities before heading back to California through that Davy Crockett country—Texas. And all to plug his new Paramount picture, "The Hangman," in which Fess co-stars with Bob Taylor and Tina Louise.

Red Skelton winds up his CBS-TV season with a live show on May 12 and then heads out on a "vacation" that'll take him to the London Palladium the Las Vegas Tropicaana and some county and state fairs.

DESILU IS dickerdick Arlene Dahl to do an occasional spec-on film-to stress "the female angle" of TV. As Arlene explains it: "I've been watching TV intensely for the past two years and I'm sick of horses, horses, nothing but horses. I realized women like to see a rugged male but they also like to see love stories, pretty clothes and pretty hairdos, and that's what my specs will show them!"

They're having a gang war backstage at Desilu's two-part telefilm about Chicago's gang wars of the '20's. It beams on CBS-TV April 20 and 27, if the cast ever gets around to acting instead of squabbling. First Robert Stack replaced Van Johnson as the FBI agent when Van couldn't get along with director Phil Karlson, and now leading lady Mary Murphy has taken a powder, reportedly for the same reason, with Pat Crowley replacing her. Still "set" in the all-star cast, however, are Barbara Nichols, Keenan Wynn, Bill Williams and Neville Brand.

IT'LL BE JACK Benny and Georgeobel alternating on CBS-TV Sunday nights next season, instead of Eddie Fisher and Lonesome George. Lever Brothers will sponsor the every-other-Sunday funny men. It's Jack's first sponsor-switch since his Old Lucky Strike-Jello days on radio.

Go figure those sponsors—I can't The Jerry Lewis spec that NBC-TV had planned for last February was cancelled because the network couldn't stir up any sponsor interest—this despite the fact that Jerry had proved his worth to the bankrollers by Trendexing 40,000,000 viewers and clobbering the opposition on his previous spec.

DINAH SHORE goes all-out for our 50th State on Sunday's Chevy Show. She'll have 50 (count 'em) 50 of Hawaii's top entertainers flow in. The only malabins in this Chevy charivari will be Dinah herself, Tony Randall and Harry Zimmerman's musician.

Sammy Fuller fled feature-film-producing to pilot a new TV series about American GIs in World War II. It's title: Dog Face.

This is the time of year when everybody wonders what the television will look like next fall: Will there be more or less Westerns, specs, private-eye shows—or ????? The annual guessing game, in the upper echelons of the three major networks, actually boils down to this: "I wish CBS-TV (or NBC or ABC, as the case may be) would get going on their programming—so that we'll know how to program against them!"

WALT DISNEY will put on a pitch to lure all your tourists to Disneyland this summer at the outset of the summer vacation—and get paid for coaxing you out here to pay for all those rides! It's a 90-minute spec, it'll beam from Disneyland itself June 15, showing all the fun you can have there. It's an ABC-TV venture, and Eastman Kodak is sponsoring it in the hopes you'll buy its products to shoot the sights you see at Disneyland!

MGM-TV has finished shooting all seven of the pilot films it hopes the sponsors will bank roll for an entire season. They consist of two suspense shows—Johnny Eager and Jeopardy—four comedies—Father of the Bride, Maisie (with Janis Paige replacing Ann Southern in the title role), McGonigle, and You're Only Young Once—and a "semi Western," located in Mexico, Amigo.

THE TV WING of MGM is shying away from an out-and-out Western this season, having gotten its financial fingers burned last year with the Northwest Passage series. As for the others, they're all based on old MGM movies.

PARAMOUNT HAS plunged headfirst into TV production too. Only seven weeks after the last of the major studio holdouts started integrating its two Hollywood studios and opening them to TV, the lots now have six TV companies shooting, with prospects for several more.

The six (and you can just about tell their contents from their titles) are Conquest of Space, Alan Ladd's Third Platoon, The Rebel (starring Nick Adams), Heave Ho, Marrigan, Box 13 and Pepsi-Cola's Jade O'Hara.

Johnson of the West

WASHINGTON, D.C. — On the masthead of the major newspaper in Fort Worth, Texas, is this maxims: "Where the West Begins." Some 75 miles further west lies Johnson City, family seat of Senator Lyndon Baines Johnson whose presidential chances are being sabotaged by the illogical query: "Can a Southerner Become President?"

The Republic of Texas, for which Johnson's forebears on both sides fought and legislated, was founded in 1836 and soon attracted a lot of Southerners caught in the disastrous Van Buren depression of 1837. The firm sign "T.G." on deserted Southern farmsteads meant "Gone to Texas" in those days when Congress had better sense than to pass Area Redevelopment bills to pin down the population.

BUT THE LONE Star Republic, according to the Department of Interior, included parts of what are now the Western States of New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming. As a result of admitting Texas to the Union the U.S.A. fought a war with Mexico and acquired the additional Western States of California, Arizona, Nevada and Utah. Thus Lyndon Johnson, a Texan among Texans, hails from a state which, more than any other state, brought America its immense and storied region called the West.

There is no characteristic more salient in Johnson than his "westernness." This is the trait in him which accounts for his relaxed attitude on a number of tense issues and his realism on a number of misunderstood ones.

WHEN THE RIGHT and Left wings of his party are taut over Civic Rights, Johnson is as loose as a slouching buckaroo. But at the time of the Sputniks, while the Administration was jeering at celestial "basketballs," Johnson set to work with ideas that finally materialized into Congressional Space committees and a new Federal agency on Space.

their treasures, energies and heroes in exploring and exploiting very far places.

TWO THINGS working for Johnson's Presidential chances are, paradoxically enough, the very ones which are often held to be obstacles—his bad heart and his Senate leadership. There is a certain attractiveness to the thought of running for Vice President on the ticket of a man who had a "massive" coronary attack as recently as 1955.

This means that Presidential hopefuls who find themselves blocked for the top office, might very well make a deal to become Johnson's running mate.

As to Johnson's boss-hood in the Senate, it has made him some very important friends, looking to 1960. The three U. S. Senators who are in the race—B. Humphrey, Kennedy and Symington—all owe their prominence in a large degree to their Majority Leader.

HERBERT HUMPHREY came to the Senate in 1949, the same year as Johnson, and was a much bigger national figure. As Mayor of Minneapolis and a college professor, Humphrey was the natural leader of the post-war Liberals.

Along with the late Maurice Tobin, he made a brace of speeches which resulted in the Southern walk-out at the 1948 Democratic Convention. When the Democrats swept all the national offices—House, Senate and White House—nobody came to the 81st Congress looking any more like the Man of the Future than Hubert Humphrey.

BUT JOHNSON PASSED him like the midnight mail. In 1953, as the very young Democratic leader, Johnson was in a position to command committee assignments. After a long talk in the back office, Johnson endorsed Humphrey's political advancement by putting him on Foreign Relations.

Jack Kennedy, elected in 1952, found himself embalmied in Labor and Government Operations committees. But in 1957, Johnson was undisputed Majority Leader, and he moved Kennedy to Foreign Relations.

STUART SYMINGTON reported to the Senate in 1953 when there was no opening on the Armed Services Committee for which his experience as Air Force Secretary seemed to fit him. But in another of his back room huddles, Johnson persuaded Senator Russell Long to move to Finance and make room for Symington on Armed Services.

Humphrey, Kennedy and Symington are today regarded as Johnson's rivals for the Democratic nomination. If so, they are very friendly rivals. They all owe their Majority Leader a big favor. This is not a bad pocket for a Dark Horse candidate to find himself boxed in. In Johnson's case, these friendships may be his best to win the nomination.—Holmes Alexander

New Zoning Law
Hearing Set
For April 27

April 27 at 10 a.m. was set by the Board of Supervisors this week as date for a hearing on amendments proposed by the planning commission for the county zoning ordinance.

Included in the proposed amendment are an increase in the present minimum lot area for building sites for residential uses in residential zones from the present 6,000 square feet to 7,200 square feet and establishment of the same minimum lot requirement for residential uses in M-3 zones; application of the present 480 square foot minimum for residential uses in residential zones to residential uses county-wide in all zones; the addition of "trap and shoot shooting facilities" to the list of uses requiring an M-3 permit; and regulations for swimming pools.

The proposed swimming pool regulations would require that private swimming pools be located not nearer than five feet to any property line or dwelling, all others not nearer than ten feet to property line or dwelling.

Attacks Critics

Saund Gives Support
To Omnibus Housing Bill

Congressman Dalip S. Saund came out four-square for the Omnibus Housing Bill this week and ripped savagely into critics of the administration-designed program aimed at averting slumps in America's home building.

Saund said that the bill, which would cost as little as $1.6 billion or as much as $2.7 billion, would successfully avert any such slumps.

HE ACCUSED opposition to the bill of circling the actual bill in favor of ambiguous statements and criticisms.

"Opponents of the bill," Saund said, "which is a 'middle of the road' measure, will try desperately to kill or cripple it by means of amendments."

Saund declared that the chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee's Subcommittee on Housing — Representative Albert Rains — had "assured me that charges that the measure would have a drastically unsettling effect on the budget for fiscal 1960 are not true."

THE REPRESENTATIVE counter-charged that the critics of the bill have talked about everything except what the bill would actually provide. Included in the legislation are these provisions:

—Increase in maximum time for home loan repayments from 30 to 35 years.

—Establishment of a program to provide loans for non-profit corporations to build housing for the aged.

—Provision of $500-millions annually by the government for aid to communities in the clearance of slums.

—Provision for an additional $400-millions for college housing now that all funds for that purpose have been exhausted.

—Extension of military housing program.

—EXTENSION AND improvement of low rent housing programs.

—Introduction of an "avoidance of foreclosure" section which would provide aid for FHA homeowners who lose their jobs and have, in the past, also lost their home.

"I believe," Saund concluded, "that the housing bill to be considered on the House floor soon is a comprehensive and all-embracing measure which contains provisions vital to our national housing programs."

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

GEE, I WONDER, where they'll finish this year, muses this youngest Palm Springs Dodger fan (he's two) as the Major League season gets under way. Says he, "I hope being snowed out yesterday won't leave them cold all year." (Desert Sun Photo)

BARRING THAT POSSIBLE UPSET

Floyd-Ingemar Battle Shaping as Biggest

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight at Yankee Stadium on June 25 was shaping up today as one of the richest bouts in history barring "the upset of the century."

Slender Bill Rosenzohn, the boy promoter who may be the sharpest such operator since Tex Rickard, faces just one problem which could turn his fight into a fiasco. This is Patterson's "tuneup" title defense at Indianapolis on May 1 against Brian London, the British ham-donny.

What happens if London wins?

"I'M NOT concerned," Rosenzohn alleges. "We all know what Patterson can do. If he loses, it will be the upset of the century." By inference, it might have been added that everybody knows, too, what London can't do.

"Actually, the Patterson-London bout is on a strategic date to help interest in our bout," Rosenzohn explained. "If Patterson looks good, everybody will want to see a great champion in action. If he should look bad, then a lot of people will want to be on hand to see whether Johansson can beat him."

What happens if Patterson accidentally is cut badly or by some quirk of fate gets busted up?

Rosenzohn can answer this only with a Pittsburgh Phil shrug.

MEANWHILE, he is driving ahead with slick promotional plans which wrote some sort of boxing history Wednesday when he tied up with the Diners' Club for a world-wide package tour of which the Patterson-Johansson bout will provide the icing on the tourist cake.

The Diners' Club has guaranteed Rosenzohn 20,000 spectators on the basis of $10 seats. This amounts to a $200,000 guarantee. Through its 200 associated travel agents in the United States, Canada and 76 countries in South America and the rest of the world, it will book tours to New York which will include transportation, hotel accommodations, fight tickets and limousine service all the way around.

ALL OF THIS can be charged by members to their Diners' Club cards.

"This will be more attractive to large companies because they can make this a tax deductible item," he said.

In a manner of speaking this makes Uncle Sam a co-sponsor of the fight but, after all, Mr. Whiskers gets a pretty good cut all the way around anyhow.

Arab Spikesters Defeat Indians in Dual RCL Meet

Coachella Valley's strong track and field team defeated Palm Springs High Varsity thunders 54-30 in a Riverside County dual track meet here yesterday.

Indian Bees won their portion of the meet 49-44 but the Cees also bowed to the Arabs, 37 to 45. Gary Soule won the mile in 5:16.2 and Bill Smith won the broad jump at 20-4 for the only two Indian firsts in the Varsity division.

Simmons to be On Mound Soon

PHILADELPHIA, UPI — Southpaw Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies hoped today that an operation which removed a bone chip from his ailing left elbow will pave the way for a return to his oldtime form on the mound.

Officials at Temple University Hospital, where the pitcher underwent the 26-minute surgery Friday, said that if all goes well, he might be able to start throwing in 21 days, when his cast will be removed.

Solons Clobber Seattle 13 to 5 At Polo Grounds

Sacramento Solons, nearing the end of their spring drills at the Polo Grounds, yesterday clobbered Seattle 13 to 5, scoring all of their runs in three innings.

Bob Perry hit a three-run homer in the sixth to pace the attack and Bob Jacobs had a double and three singles for the Solons.

The Solons are idle today but go to Yuma tomorrow to meet Vancouver.

They close out their stay Monday and Tuesday with two games at the Polo Grounds, Vancouver Monday and Seattle Tuesday.

Yesterday's line score:

Seattle	100-000-004-8-7-3
Sacramento	000-020-006-13-17-1
Race	Rosenbloom * (7) 407; Brown, Souleward * (7) 304; Bowman (A); Davis (9) and Beards, Barrigan (9).

Three Jockeys Win

LEXINGTON, Ky. UPI — Willie Hartack, Clarence Meux and Steve Brooks rode all the winners at Keeneland Friday. Hartack won with Rock Age, Quantrell and King Redbird; Meux scored on Latonya, Knobview and Spring Broker, and Brooks won aboard Wonder Star and On-and-On in the feature.

Saliva Tests for Athletes?

Science Taking Over On the Field of Play

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Memo to Avery Brundage and the rest of the International Olympics Games officials:

It's time now to set up a station to take saliva tests of all athletes competing in the 1960 Olympic winter and summer games.

Professionalism isn't the only big worry any more. It's the outside "aid" athletes are getting from scientists, inventors and just about every screwball associated with the sport.

THE LATEST threat to having track and field an "honest" sport is a new drug. But this is just one of many new "aids" to athletes that have been put on the market during the post-war years.

For example: —The Russians invented a shoe with a spring in it so they could jump higher.

—Somebody in Spain came up with a new-type, two-handed, well-fingered throw in the javelin that made the event a dangerous weapon to anyone within 40 feet.

—Oxygen tanks have been placed on the infield to revive athletes so they'll be in good health for the next event.

—And now drugs that will offset fatigue of the athletes in the longer runs.

THE NATIONAL AAU says that use of drugs to stimulate athletes is against the rules. But, unless they set up a saliva test tent, how are they going to know?

The horse racing industry, threatened with collapse because of the invention of so many new drugs in recent years, formed the Thoroughbred Protective Association and now at every track there

All Star Golf Series to Start Here May 5

Snead Player to Meet in Opener At Eldorado Club

"All Star Golf," TV's outstanding sports competition, which will begin its third consecutive year over 150 ABC-TV network stations in October, will tee off before the TV cameras for the new series on May 5 at the Eldorado Country Club in Palm Springs, it was announced today.

Jimmy Demaret, leading pro golfer for 20 years, has been signed as commentator for the tournament which will be produced by Peter DeMet and producer-director Sidney C. Goltz with a 50-man crew.

A THREE-TIME winner of the masters, Demaret is a former Vardon trophy winner, leading money winner on the pro circuit, three-time member of the Ryder Cup Team and a member of the United States Canada Cup Team. The 48-year-old Demaret is the pro at the new club of champions in Houston, Texas, his home, and at the Concord Hotel, Klamath Lake, New York.

SAM SNEAD, champion of "All Star Golf" this season with $22,000 in winnings, will meet Gary Player, South Africa pro in the first match at Eldorado on May 5.

Billy Casper will meet the winner on May 6 at Bermuda Dunes Golf Course; Ed (Porky) Oliver will be the challenger on May 7th at Eldorado; and Al Balding will challenge the winner on May 8th at Bermuda Dunes.

SNEAD WAS unbeaten in 13 matches this season in "All Star Golf" and returns for the first match next season against 25-year-old Gary Player. Player won six of the last nine tournaments he played in Australia and South Africa and finished tie for seventh place in the Masters last week-end. Last June he finished second in the U.S. open. Only 5' 7" and weighing 155 pounds, Player is considered one of the most promising of the young pros.

On May 11 the matches shift to Las Vegas, at Wilbur Clark's Desert Inn Country Club, where five matches will be filmed.

IN ALL, 26 head-to-head 18-hole matches will be filmed for the full season series. The winner of each match receives $2,000, the loser $1,000. There are bonuses of $10,000 for a hole-in-one, and $500 for every eagle. The winner continues to play new opponents.

Ray O'Brien, former PGA Tournament Director, is tournament director of "All Star Golf." Walter Schweitzer, Inc., distributor and the series is sponsored by Miller Brewing Company and Reynolds Metals.

THE ENTRY LIST includes women golfers from all of the local clubs and from San Diego to the northwest on the west coast plus some from the Midwest.

Prizes will be awarded at a cocktail party and dinner Wednesday.

Mrs. William Powell is tournament chairman and O'Donnell Golf Club pro, George Howard, is in charge of the details.

PLAY IN THE higher handicap flights starts on Monday when 102 golfers tee off. Tuesday participants in the Championship flight tee off and the second 18 of the Palm Springs Flight is played.

Championship Flight contestants finish their 18 holes on Wednesday. Desert Flight, second 18 is also scheduled on Wednesday along with finals in the special contests.

Mrs. Kanrich is Again Winner of Tamarisk Crown

Mrs. Marge Kanrich, women's club champion at Tamarisk Country Club last year, successfully defended her crown yesterday when she won over Mrs. Robert Heffernan in the 1959 championship flight yesterday at the club.

In the first flight, Mrs. Willard Parker defeated Mrs. Mike Ferenz for the title and Mrs. Louis Galen defeated Miss Florence Schwartz in the second flight.

Mrs. Sam Hart won over Mrs. Robert Levin in the third flight.

Mrs. Sydney Charney was first low net in the Consolation Round with 33's and Mrs. M. E. Glass was second low net with 36.

The prizes were presented by Mrs. Isadore Singer yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the tournament.

Fetchik Hangs on To Three Stroke Greensboro Lead

GREENSBORO, N. C. UPI — The field was still trying to catch up with Mike Fetchik today going into the third round of the Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament.

The Yonkers, N. Y., shotmaker turned in a four-under-par 67 Friday for a 36-hole total of 133.

Tied for second place — three strokes back — were Art Wall Jr., of Pocomo Manor, Pa., the new Masters champion; Stan Leonard of Vancouver, B. C., and Don Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla.

Backbone Favorite In Laurel Maturity

LAUREL, Md. UPI — Bonerist Farm's Backbone was an 8-5 favorite today to beat six rivals in the inaugural running of the $50,000 Laurel Maturity.

Backbone will carry top weight of 119 pounds, including jockey Larry Adams, in the mile and one-eighth event for four-year-olds.

BOWLING

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

The Wheelettes continued their lead in the Women's Bowling League Thursday night when they rolled the high team series, 2331, and held an eight-game lead in the loop. Janis Enterprise team rolled an 842 game for high game.

Dottie Rantley's 499 series was high for individuals and Diane Bosch topped 191 pins for high game.

Standings of the team today: Wheelettes, 54-24; Hoams Pools, 46-32; P.S. Transfer and Storage, 44-34; Janis Enterprises, 35-43; Mama's Fashions, 29-49; Ramon Drug, 26-52.

UCLA Netters Win From California U.

LOS ANGELES, UPI — UCLA, defending champions in southern division Pacific Coast Conference tennis competition, blanked their Berkeley cousins Friday, 9-0. Bruin sophomore Norman Perry shut out Art Koon, 6-0, 6-0, in the featured match, and the visitors won only nine games in all.

Silver Spoon Set For Trip to Derby

INGLEWOOD, UPI — Silver Spoon, C. V. Whitney's unbeaten filly, will fly to Louisville Friday and a probable start in the Kentucky Derby.

The daughter of Citation went seven furlongs Friday in 1:24 2/5 in her final workout at Hollywood Park.

Old Pros Come Through in First Games of Season

By FRED DOWN

United Press International

There's no pro like an old pro when it comes to launching a new season.

They say it over and over again while the rookies are dominating the headlines in the spring, but the words never rang truer than yesterday when Warren Spahn, Robin Roberts and Nelson Fox showed the young 'uns how it's done in the big leagues.

Spahn, Roberts and Fox, whose combined careers add up to a total of 36 years of major league experience, seized the opening day headlines as the Milwaukee Braves, Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago White Sox got off to winning starts.

SPAHN, THE BRILLIANT 37-year-old southpaw from Buffalo, N. Y., who has recorded nine 20-victory seasons, cooled off the ambitious Pittsburgh Pirates with a seven-hitter as he pitched the Braves to an 8-0 victory. Roberts, starting his 10th straight opener, pitched a five-hitter to give the Phillies a 2-1 decision over the Cincinnati Reds. And Fox, who didn't hit a homer all last season, blasted one in the 14th inning to provide the White Sox with a 7-5 win over the Detroit Tigers.

The Cleveland Indians defeated the Kansas City Athletics, 6-4, and the San Francisco Giants beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5, in the other openers. Boston at New York in the American League was rained out and Los Angeles at Chicago in the National was snowed out.

ALL THAT TALK ABOUT the Braves needing a second baseman was forgotten as the National League champs parlayed their two long snits—pitching and power—into an easy victory. Spahn, who struck out six and walked only two in scoring the 44th shutout of his career, delivered a two-run single himself. Ed Mathews blasted a two-run homer and Bill Burton and Hank Aaron had three hits each in Milwaukee's 13-hit attack.

THEIR FIRST six games were away from home because the Sacramento Solons were using the Polo Grounds as their spring training site. The Solons depart next week for the Pacific Coast League season and the Indians will take over.

They will play seven games in a row at the Polo Grounds closing the season away from home at Beaumont on May 15.

SUGGS LEADS BY 2 IN ZAHARIAS OPEN

BEAUMONT, Tex. UPI — Defending champion Louise Suggs carried a two-stroke lead into the second round of the seventh annual $6,000 Babe Zaharias Women's Open golf tournament today. She turned in six birdies for a four-under-par 69 Friday.

NEW YORK UPI—Eddie Arcaro rode four winners at Jamaica Friday, including Imperial Hill in the featured seventh race.

Dear Abby...

... by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been asking me for weeks if he can bring a divorced woman home for lunch who works where he works. She has been having problems with her "ex." He wants me to hear her story and give her my opinion. I told my husband a woman of her age, which is 30, should not have to ask me (I am 32) for advice. I also told my husband I don't think it looks right for this divorced woman to be telling her troubles to him either. I am getting very upset over this whole thing as my husband has pestered me for months about meeting this woman. Am I right in telling him he shouldn't be so concerned with her troubles?

UPSET DEAR ABBY: You are correct but you'd be to let him bring her home for lunch. Listen to her story, give her your opinion and throw in a little extra "advice" about single women "avoiding" the appearance of evil" by confining their friendships to single men.

DEAR ABBY: I am very much interested in joining the WAVES and so are two of my girlfriends, but we would like to know something first. Is it possible to join the WAVES if you aren't a virgin? Please tell me where to find out as it will save us a lot of embarrassment. WANTING TO JOIN DEAR ABBY: Contact your local recruiting office. They will give you all the official information.

DEAR ABBY: My mother said I could go to a show with this guy named Jerry. We double-dated with Laurie and Mike. We left the house at 7:30 and when we got in the car it turned out that Laurie had seen the show we were going to see, so we all went to Mike's house. We just popped corn and goofed around and played records and watched TV. We got interested in a movie on TV and forgot the time, so instead of being home at 12 sharp like I said, we got home at 12:45. My mother was having fits. I didn't lie to her, Abby. I told her we weren't at the show and she almost hit the ceiling. Now I can't go out for a month. Is this fair? CINDY DEAR CINDY: Parents are not unreasonable when they insist on knowing where their children are. When you leave the house, go where you planned to go. Should the plans change, phone your parents to get their approval.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old boy and have a problem that is very confidential, so if you put this in the paper please don't use my name. Every time I kiss a girl nothing happens. My friends are always talking about how good certain girls can kiss. I take them out and when I kiss them, like I said, nothing happens. I know they are trying, too. I am very worried about it. Am I normal? JUST ME

DEAR JUST: It's a matter of elementary physics, Son. When the RIGHT irresistible force (she) meets the immovable object (you) something's got to give. Patience!

Opera Singers Present Recital for Association

By GEORGE LAINE

Before getting into an analysis of Thursday's Nadine Conner-Eugene Conley recital for the Palm Springs Community Concert Association in the high school auditorium, it might be helpful to understand the factors that determine such an analysis.

Opera implies many things to many people, some good and some bad. A person dragged off to such doings may harbor a hatred of operatic theater for the rest of his life and, conversely, a person kept from it may later rush pell-mell to any and all opera presentations without reason, without discretion.

SEMANTICALLY, there may be differences in what we mean or think we mean by the use of the word opera. To spare possible misconception, we may set forth at once musicologist's definition. Here is what Iling has to say by way of defining the word:

"Opera, a musical dramatic entertainment in which the music plays an essential and not merely incidental part." There is more to the definition (including a capsule history of the rise to prominence of operatic performance) but this definition will serve.

I want the definition before us because what I have to say about Miss Conner and Conley is predicated on that definition.

WHEN THE orchestra leaves the stage, it is impossible for the conductor to lead a symphony. When the orchestra leaves the stage, it is impossible to present a concerto (recognizing this impossibility, many composers wrote sonata that would not be marred by the absence of an orchestra).

Additionally, when the orchestra leaves the stage, it becomes impossible to present opera. The message of the words is bound so thoroughly, so irrevocably to the environment created by the music as to make arias, duets and choral works mere hollow songs—without vital meaning, without intrinsic value—when presented without it.

THREE EXCERPTS from one of the most sweetly-told of all Puccini operas—"La Boheme"—thus failed to achieve any real significance in presentation by the Conley-Conner twosome, backed as they were by a piano.

Taking the segment selection by selection, we may be able to determine the absolutelessness of the loss we suffered by this recital presentation.

First, Miss Conner and Conley asked us to intrude well into the middle of one of the most poignant scenes in all opera. The key-dropping incident is well behind them when Conley opens the set with Chelgida manina—"Your hand is cold"—and all of the orchestral innuendo that helps creates the deepness of his feeling is omitted.

EVEN IF IT were possible to forget for a moment that Conner's Rudolfo was singing "unaccompanied," the absence of the orchestra would have to be blatantly apparent when he finishes, asking the young lady to tell him who she is, what she does.

At this point in the opera, there is an almost breathless rush of music from the orchestra. At the high school auditorium, pianist Henry Jackson did not even attempt to cover it.

Then comes, in the Puccini original, the aria that has long since come to be regarded as one of the three or four most beautiful in all opera.

"They call me Mimi," sings the soprano, "although my name is Lucia. I don't know why they call me that."

THE THEME that accompanies this aria—played by an orchestra—is a work of sheerest beauty, of incomparable feeling. It is a theme that repeats again and again throughout the opera right up to and including the death scene. And yet we heard only a thinly-deleted piano transcription of that wonderful, warm melody.

At this point, the tenor and the soprano slashed out the part of Puccini's effort that has the pair interrupted by Rudolfo's three friends.

They turned, instead, directly into O soave fanciulla in which they declare their love for each other as the act ends.

ON MAY 30, 1894, Corno di Bassetto, a London music critic better known to us all as Bernard Shaw, wrote:

"I hate performers who debase great works of art: I long for their annihilation: if my criticism were flaming thunderbolts, no prudent life or fire insurance company would entertain a proposal from any singer within my range, or from the lessee of any opera house or concert room within my circuit."

I must admit that I concur.

For the singing in the first half of Thursday's program, it should be noted that it was several notches above the level of the program. For the singing in the second half of Thursday's program, consult someone else. I left at intermission.

Sermon Set Sunday at PD Living Center

PALM DESERT — Rev. Muriel Haskell will talk on "The Roots of Abundance" at the 11 a.m. Sunday services of the Palm Desert branch of the Center of Creative Living.

Located at 44-507 San Pasqual, the Palm Desert branch is a recently dedicated metaphysical center. It is non-sectarian and is inaugurating a full program of Sunday services and study classes, Rev. Haskell said.

Study classes are scheduled for Wednesday nights. Next Wednesday, Dr. Haskell will begin a series of studies based on articles published in Ceylon.

Each Wednesday, the class will discuss one of the Beatitudes of the Sermon in the Mount, on the basis of translations from the Hebrew and Greek and their similarities to Eastern teaching. Classes will continue through May 13.

NEW MERCHANTS GROUP ORGANIZED

PALM DESERT — Outstanding among the many projects discussed this week at the open meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held at Firecliff Lodge was the immediate organization of a Retail Merchant's Association which will be the first of its kind here.

Ralph Hale, owner of Hale's Men's store and board director of the Chamber, will act as head of the new association. He will be assisted by Earcel Ostler of Ostler's Paints and Leon Satterfield of the California Electric Power Co. The new organization will work closely with the chamber in undertaking an extensive promotion and advertising campaign for Palm Springs retail merchants throughout the Coachella Valley.

Hemet Wants Higher Fuel Tax

Copy of a resolution recently adopted by the Hemet City Council urging the state legislature to increase the motor vehicle fuel tax by an amount of one cent per gallon for allocation to cities and counties for their use in improvement of local streets and roads, was received by the Board of Supervisors this week and filed without comment.

According to the resolution the City of Hemet now receives an annual gas tax revenue allocation of $12,020 and has street needs estimated at $2,054,000 for the next 12 years to 1971.

Parents of Scouts To Meet Monday

A meeting of Kiwanians and parents whose children are members of the Kiwanis-sponsored Boy Scout troop here will be held Monday in Katherine Finchy School.

At that time, volunteer leadership of the troop will be introduced and charter pledges will be sought.

Tom Pollack has accepted the post of scout master for the troop while Pat O'Connell will be institutional representative and George Milkie will be advisor. Bob McWhirter is chairman of the scout committee.

THE NEED for a suitable building for the Shadow Mountain School, at present located in the former post office building, was presented by Jimmy Hinds of Eldorado Country Club.

"Many members of Eldorado have signified their desire for a school where they may enroll their children for private tutoring for three or four months out of the year," said Hinds.

The present Shadow Mountain School, under the owner-directorship of Mrs. Florence Purvis, would be entirely adequate, Hinds indicated. He pointed out that the first step, however, was to find a lot, then the construction of a building which in turn could be leased by Mrs. Purvis.

SUPPORT FOR a special letter sticker, issued by the Hal Kapp-Ted Smith office was requested from chamber members and friends by President Phil Franklin. The promotional sticker depicts the Ryder Cup and date of the matches, Nov. 1-8, at the Eldorado Country Club. According to Hal Kapp, 10,000 stickers have already been sold and another 10,000 are on order.

The possibility of an airfield for jet planes located at One Thousand Palms was discussed and Dick Coffin and Baldwin Baker were appointed as a special investigating committee. Franklin remarked that he had received several letters of protest—from Palm Desert residents—regarding this possibility.

Animal Lovers Search For Poodle in PD Hills

PALM DESERT — Squads of anxious animal lovers teamed up in a canine rescue party here today to comb the desert area near Silver Spur for a miniature poodle that wandered away from its home 10 days ago.

Mrs. Aileen Stephens, executive secretary of the Desert Humane Society of Coachella Valley, said society members have conducted a continuous search for the animal for more than a week.

"THE DOG HAS been sighted several times," she said, "but we haven't been able to catch up with it."

She said society officers are considering the use of a helicopter to help pin down the pup's hiding place.

The dog, a cocoa-colored miniature, was recently acquired by Mrs. F. P. Morley, of Palm Desert. Apparently shy of humans, the pup scoots for cover every time it's sighted by members of the "rescue" party.

"WE PUT OUT food and water for it every day and we've tried to trap it," Mrs. Stephens said. "But it eats the food and ignores the traps; and its fear of humans apparently keeps it under cover."

Mrs. Stephens said she fears that the animal might become the prey of hungry coyotes if it isn't snared soon.

She asked anyone spotting the dog to call FA 5-7306 immediately.

BRIDE-ELECT Roberta Poliak, center, was honored at a luncheon and shower at Hotel Oasis this week. The luncheon was hosted by Mrs. Hugh Stephens, left, and Mrs. William Elliott. The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. H. Poliak, Roberta has been honored at several parties. She will marry Douglas Kinna on Sunday.

Luncheon and Card Party Benefit CYO

Raising money for the activities of the Catholic Youth Organization, a benefit luncheon, fashion show and card party was held at the Tennis Club on Thursday, under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Cody. Assisting was Richard LeDuc, president of the sponsoring organization.

Fashion coordinator Barbara

Poster supervised the show which offered teen age clothes. Background music for the show was supplied by guitarist Julio Corona. Teen age models were Sandra Babcock, Lynn Wright, Nonny Scully, Robbie Lynn Floyd, Connie Workman, Bob Hill, Richard LeDuc, George Nicholson, Ron DeGrucio, Mike Cohen.

Among the prizes given away was a gold and pearl ring from Andreas, gift of Mrs. Robert Howard, and gifts from Waltham Clarke's, Beverly Fretz, and Sales Market. Card tables were set up in the Venetian Room for the afternoon play.

All that glitters is not gold... that's true... (it can be diamonds you know)... but, but many times under the glitter there's gold... That's just as true of Palm Springs glitter and glamor... The pure gold nugget is that real 24-billion carat sun... that gold plates the Village... most days in the year (we go on champagne the days it doesn't)... and if you look beneath the glamor you are quite likely to find that it's all for charity... and meant hard work for a lot of people... Palm Springs glitter and glamor (that means spending gold for everyone financially involved in the town's welfare) is for real... but underneath are all kinds of home town happenings.

'Private Lives' Ends Season

THE FERRALLS, Michael and Mariann Walters, who have been teamed as co-producers and co-directors at the Playhouse, next week will be double billed in the lead roles of "Private Lives."

Michael and Mariann (Walters) Ferrall wind up a successful season of presentations at the Palm Springs Playhouse the week beginning April 14th, when they co-star in the popular Noel Coward comedy, "Private Lives."

"Private Lives" is sophisticated high comedy at its best, and is ideally suited to the equally sophisticated and sparkling talents of Miss Walters and Mr. Ferrall. The play, when originally performed by Coward and the late Gertrude Lawrence, won immediate success. Its brilliant dialogue and unconventional nature of theme has placed it among the best of the farces of the modern age, and it is considered to be one of Coward's best.

The Ferralls, popular husband and wife team of co-producers-directors of the Theatre in the Round, have appeared throughout the season in many plays, but this, the final production, is the first in which they are cast together in the leading roles. Christy Palmer and William Hughes, also popular members of the Palm Springs Playhouse regulars, are cast in the second leads.

Many interesting features will be added to this final week's activities at the Playhouse. Saturday and Sunday the entire cast at the Playhouse will present two special childrens matinee performances of the play based on Grimm's fairy tale, "Hansel and Gretel." Show time is 2:30 and tickets for children and grown up children alike will be $1.00. The date, Saturday and Sunday, April 18 and 19.

At the Sunday night performance, April 19th, the Playhouse will have as special guest, Mrs. Herbert N. Nicholson, of Arcadia, who won the "Holiday for Lovers" trip to Las Vegas in February during the run of the play of the same name. Mrs. Nicholson will leave the next day, with her daughter, via Western Airlines for her holiday at the glamorous Hotel Sahara, in Las Vegas.

The Sunday performance, April 19th, of "Private Lives" draws the curtain on the final scene at the Palm Springs Playhouse for the season of 1954-55. Michael Ferrall and his wife Mariann Walters as co-producers - directors have presented to desert audiences an outstanding array of talent throughout the season, including such famous names in the theatre world as (in order of their appearances), Wanda Hendrix, Edward Everett Horton, Dorothy Stone, Donald Woods, Pamela Britton, Jenny Hecht, Rudolph Anders, Leo G. Carroll, Sue Ane Langdon, K. T. Stevens, John Holland, and Charles Winninger, as well as many other talented actors and actresses.

Reservations for all performances may be obtained by calling PA 5-6189, or tickets purchased at the Palm Springs Playhouse box office on Sunrise Way near Ramon Road.

University Women To Hear Foreign Correspondent

A writer and foreign correspondent Mary L. Knight, will be the speaker when the American Association of University Women meets Tuesday, April 14 at 7:45 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Howard Matthews at 1086 Driftwood Drive.

A vital and dynamic speaker, Miss Knight has chosen the topic "Think Fear Is a Phony."

Among her books are "The Red Blight," "Spies Versus Censors," and "Red Realm in China," while her autobiography "On My Own" has been placed as reference work in high school and college libraries. Articles under her byline have appeared in Readers Digest and other national magazines and newspapers.

Committee in charge of this meeting includes Mmes. Henry Greeley, Wayland Reynolds, Hazel B. Tripp, Herbert Burns, Cecil Paul Jones and Miss Leona V. Smith.

MARIKAY FITZGERALD (3180 Lake Shore Drive) donned western attire to bring Palm Springs atmosphere to planning party for Loretta Federation Fashion Show "El Mirador Holiday" in Chicago today.

Miss Fitzgerald modeled bridal attire in the role of the bride for the "Dream Wedding" finale of the show.

El Mirador Fashion Show Staged for Chicago Benefit

Chicagoans, who know and love Palm Springs suffered the pangs of homesickness for the desert today at the Loretta Federation's seventh annual fashion show on the stage of the Grand Ballroom of the Conrad Hilton Hotel in the Windy City.

Mrs. W. Ralph (Lesley) Fitzgerald, frequent winter visitor here at El Mirador (her late husband was one of the Fitzgerald brothers who were heavy stockholders in the big hotel) was responsible for the theme "El Mirador Holiday", and out of the mystery and enchantment of the desert she brings Chicago an entirely new and intriguing idea of fashion presentation.

Luncheon was served down among the murmuring palms in an atmosphere of resort festivity as an array of California top fashion designs paraded the runways in colorful glamour ranging from something new under the sun for the sun worshiper through an all-occasion wardrobe appropriate to the newest mecca of fashion criteria, where romance and fashion was brought to a glorious finale in a dream of a wedding 'neath the light of western stars.

"Out west where men are men, women find it pays to be feminine," says the diminutive, blonde fashion coordinator, "and this year's fashion trend puts emphasis on femininity in both fabric and style detail." She also contends that casual living has not outmoded elegance in dress as evidenced by the lovely line of patio fashions that reflect an easy, gracious, daytime charm.

She feels that color is a major psychological factor in conveying that important first impression that is expected of high couture design and from the fashionable

Pam Redfern, daughter of Mrs. Biffel Redfern celebrated her sixth birthday Sunday at the family home on Smokewood Avenue. Not only did the birthday girl receive gifts but each little girl attending was given a gold taffeta dress made by Pam's grandmother, Mrs. Elsie Majors.

One of Pam's special birthday gifts was a doll house built entirely by her mother and grandmother.

Party games were played and refreshments served which included a pink, blue and white decorated birthday cake. While Pam blew out the candles on her cake the little guests sang "Happy Birthday."

Among those attending were Paula Udell, Mary Greene, Joy Aikin, Barbie Hillstrand and Laine Floan.

St. Paul's Guild To Meet Tuesday

The Guild of St. Paul's in the Desert Episcopal Church, will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Camp, 776 Mission Road, on Tuesday, April 14, at 12:30 o'clock.

Co-hostesses will be Mrs. A. V. Linkletter, and Mrs. Charles Neiborby.

Dinner Raises Money to Buy Land for Church

Jack o' lanterns lit up the patio and surrounding flower-filled grounds Wednesday evening when Mrs. Charles Dant hosted a dinner for 135 at her home on El Camino Way.

The dinner, catered by Santos and served outdoors on the sweeping patio, was a project to raise funds to purchase property adjacent to St. Paul's Episcopal Church. No charge was made for the dinner but donations and pledges were received with the drive being very successful.

Preceding the dinner Father Barnhill, St. Paul's new rector, delivered a short address on the advisability of purchasing the property.

Bid of $91,800

Local Firm Gets Indio Jail Job

The $91,800 bid submitted this week by Associated Builders of Palm Springs on the addition to jail facilities at the Indio branch administrative center was accepted by the Board of Supervisors. This bid was the lowest of five submitted on specifications revised in an attempt to get bids down to the $90,000 budgeted for the project.

Lowest bid received by the supervisors Feb. 24 on the original specifications was $91,850, just $50 more than the lowest bid on the revised specifications.

ALL BIDS WERE rejected Feb. 24, and the revision of specifications was ordered. The bids submitted then ranged to a high of $105,890. The $91,850 bid was submitted by Beyerly Construction Co. of Banning.

Highest bid submitted this week was $99,555. The Beyerly Construction Co. which was lowest on the original specifications was next to the highest, $96,230 on the revised specifications.

ASKED BY SUPERVISOR Curtis Chamberlain where the $1,800 above the budgeted amount would come from, Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen replied that it would be taken from the accumulative outlays fund, or from the bond issue approved by the voters for the Indio jail project and for jail and probation facilities in Riverside.

He assured Chamberlain that the Riverside projects will not suffer because of the $1,800 additional cost in Indio.

DOA to Hold Annual Dinner Meeting April 17

RANCHO MIRAGE — Members of the Riverside-Palm Springs Chapter, Disabled Officers Association, will install new officers for 1959 at their monthly dinner meeting at the Officer's Club, at March Air Force Base, at 6 p.m., Friday, April 17, according to Capt. Arthur Swanson of Rancho Mirage, the retiring commander.

The following officers will be installed by the former senior national vice commander, Capt. Clarence D. Symes of North Hollywood; Col. Jay H. Bouton of Arlington, commander; Major Clark A. Ingli of San Bernardino, senior vice commander, and Col. Ray H. Weir of Montclair, junior vice commander.

Swanson invited all Reserve U.S. Army and Navy and National Guard officers of the Armed Services, who have been retired for war disabilities, together with their ladies.

LEGAL NOTICES

No. 721

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of the City of Palm Springs, California, will hold a public hearing on Wednesday, April 22, 1959, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock p.m. in the City Council Chambers, 3200 McCallum Way, in the City of Palm Springs, California.

The purpose of this hearing is to consider changes to the setback provisions and building enlargement provisions of the Palm Springs Ordinance Code. The Sections are being considered as follows:

9231. Approval of Plans: Before any building or structure which is designed or intended to be used for non-residential or residential purposes is erected, constructed, altered or moved, drawings showing the exterior elevations of the proposed building or structure, the types of materials and colors to be used, and the signs to be displayed, shall be filed with the Commission and approved by the Commission or its designated agent before any permit for the construction of said building or structure shall be issued. The alteration of buildings in established setback areas shall not be permitted without the prior approval of the City Council.

Enlargements: Nonconformity as to Other Regulations: Buildings or structures conforming to lot area, distance, yard or height requirements may be enlarged in accordance with a plan approved by the Planning Commission, provided that such enlargement shall not exceed 40% of the gross floor area of such buildings or structures; and does not interfere with the nonconforming use in the case of lot area enlargement. The enlarged portion of the building or structure does not encroach beyond the established setback lines established by ordinance.

Non-Conforming Structures: Buildings or structures nonconforming to setbacks, requirements shall not be altered or enlarged except in the manner and as provided by resolution of the City Council.

An opportunity will be given at said hearing for all interested persons and the general public to be heard.

MARY G. RINGWALD
City Clerk

Anza Chamber Enthusiastic Over Tree Planting

The Anza Chamber of Commerce which last December requested county cooperation in the planting of a border of roadside trees "in time for winter rains" and won road department and board approval March 23, took an optimistic view of the situation in a letter of thanks received by the Board of Supervisors this week.

"The committee hopes to get the tree planting done real soon so as to benefit from any spring rain," declared Harry Bergman, chairman of the C of C tree planting committee.

Bergman reported that cedar trees which have proven to do well in the area have been chosen. According to the board's action the choice of trees must be approved by the road commissioner. The road department is to keep trees watered until they get a substantial start. The trees are to be furnished and planted by the C of C along the eastern and western half mile entrances to the town of Anza.

NEW MONITORING STATION IN COUNTY IS SCHEDULED

A fourth monitoring station at Mira Loma has been launched by the Riverside County Air Pollution Control District, which will operate the facility in conjunction with the California Public Health Department.

Readings on oxidants, oxides of nitrogen and carbon monoxide will be taken by the new station, the APCD said.

THE APCD ANNOUNCEMENT means that the new station will be the most thoroughly equipped of all Riverside County monitoring stations. The other three now in operation — at Riverside, Corona and in the San Geronimo Pass — have oxidant measuring devices installed and the Riverside station also possesses an oxides of nitrogen measurement machine.

The newest device — the carbon monoxide measuring machine — will detail how much pollution is being amassed by combustion processes, open burning and auto exhaust.

APRIL READINGS by the APCD indicated an unusually low concentration of oxidants. Highest was 0.32 parts per million at the new Mira Loma station.

The new monitoring station also showed highest nitrogen dioxide reading (.08 ppm) and highest carbon monoxide total (11.0 ppm). The latter two readings were contrasted against Los Angeles County APCD reports which indicated that the smog-filled metropolitan area registered an average value of 0.30 ppm and where carbon monoxide averages 15.0 ppm.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI) — Police rushed into an apartment where smoke was billowing from a gas oven and a space heater was glowing in the corner and found three small children clustered around the TV set calmly watching a program.

SMALL TOWN JUDGE GETS $202,000 IN FINES 'FOR SAFETY'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Mayor Earl M. Roudenhush of the tiny village of Canfield admitted Tuesday he has fined motorists $202,000 in Mayor's Court in the past 30 months. "I don't do it for revenue," he told a legislative committee. "It's for highway safety."

Sheriff Asked for Revision

Backed by the support of parents, teachers and law enforcement officers, Sheriff Joe W. Rice appeared before the Board of Supervisors this week to uphold his contention that his proposed bicycle ordinance is needed as a protection and service to the county's bicycle owners.

Following a lengthy hassle over the proposed law, and after a motion by Supervisor Curtis Chamberlain to adopt the ordinance failed to get a second, the supervisors asked the sheriff to reconsider the license fee provision and the section making it unlawful to operate a bicycle along a public highway.

SUPERVISOR GEORGE Berkey who made the motion to return the ordinance to the sheriff for revision said the public highway use phrase would mean that the sheriff's department would have to be on the alert to catch violators. This he said would cost the county money which would not be financed by the license fee. The fee is one dollar for a ten-year period (10 cents per year).

Supervisor Paul Anderson agreed with Berkey that the ordinance as written would cost a lot of money to administer.

Supervisor Chamberlain argued that the ordinance is intended as a service to the people, but finally agreed that the 10 cents per year fee might be too cheap. "I guess the county would make more money if we just keep the stolen bikes and auction them off at the end of a year as we do now," he opined with a smile.

SUPERVISOR FRED McCall asked Sheriff Rice, "How many boys have you asked if they want their bicycles licensed?"

The sheriff said he guessed he hadn't approached any boys on the subject.

A man in the audience told Supervisor McCall, "I don't ask my four girls if they want their bicycles licensed. I make their decisions for them."

"Don't you think that if you asked your children instead of telling them you'd get along better?" countered McCall. Obviously upset, the man returned to his seat, but a woman came to his rescue. "We should take care of our children and decide things for them until they are of age," she told McCall.

MCCALL SAID HE had asked a number of boys what they thought about a requirement that their bicycles be licensed and they had said they don't want such a requirement. "A requirement that they buy a license would bring a lot of ill feeling by the children," concluded McCall.

Supervisor William Jones, who has vigorously opposed the bicycle licensing ordinance, was absent, reportedly fishing in Mexico.

Sheriff Rice said that since April of 1957, 104 bicycles have been reported as lost. Of these, 58 per cent have been recovered. Owners of 30 bicycles could not be located. He estimated the number of bicycles in the county to be in the neighborhood of 10,000. He said 10,000 metal license plates would cost $650 and 10,000 seals would cost $225, a total of $875. Equipment for each sheriff's substation he estimated at $8 to $10.

The shatter-proof windshield became standard equipment for automobiles in 1928. Since the early days, every part of the chassis, engine, and body have undergone vast improvement.

'Toughest Unit' Now in Training

TWENTYNINE PALMS — The "toughest, hardest - hitting" unit in the Marine Corps is meeting one of the ruggedest enemies it'll ever come up against this week — the sun and sand of the American desert.

Members of the First Reconnaissance Battalion of the First Marine Division, based at Camp Pendleton, arrived here late last week and were immediately deployed into the desert to make preparations to repel an "invading" force.

The unit, along with other U.S. Marine Corps segments, are currently involved in massive war games that stretch from the Pacific Ocean through the desert area and from San Diego to San Pedro.
